You deludhering villin' ye, said Bridget to Paddy her husband, there is no gettin' round the loikes of ye, at all, at all. Now we don't pretend to say that Mr. Kinard, or Jimmy Kennedy, or the handsome George Irwin are "villins," but that they are first class deludherers there is no doubt. Nor is there any end to their willingness to draw the people in. We don't blame them however, they have such winning ways in getting rid of their splendid Stock of Clothing. Well its just a way they have.

Polishing the Wrong End.

Many men daily polish their boots who never give a thought to the condi-tion of their hair, except to harrow it casually with brush and comb, or submit it to the paralyzing attention of the average barber. What happens? Why, this: From neglect, mental anxlety, or any of a score of causes, the bair turns prematurely gray and begins to fall out. Parker's Hair Balsam will at once stop the latter process and restore the original color. An elegant dressing, free from grease. Nov. 29, 1m.

The Skating Rink

Is all a boom once more, and its opening night was crowded with the bright Misses and gallant beaux of the last memorable season, and by many new aspirants for future light rolling feats. The visitors on that occasion declare themselves delighted, as no doubt they were, for who could fail to be pleased in gazing at Newberry's youth and beauty. Would we were a boy again. We venture to say that in no town of its size are there to be found so many handsome and tastefully dressed young ladies as in Newberry. Three times three for the Rink and its merry light footed rollers.

The Hot Supper.

The entertainment Wednesday night last was perfect in all that goes to make an agreeable and recherche feast. The viands prepared by the lady friends of Excelsior Fire Engine Co., were delicious and abundant, and in profusion of variety; even the toothsome and homely "possum and taters" graced the groaning table, and it was done up brown. It was indeed a rich and royal feast. Too much pains can-Strict Good Ordinary ---- @ not be given to the oyster stew, it was grand, and the oysters were so thick in the dish, that the delicious broth could hardly be seen, an unusual style for public stews. All the success is due the dear ladies, and we give them the praise to which they are so eminently entitled-they never fail in any good work. The amount realized footed up $150, a larger sum than ever before reached on an occasion of this kind. The vote on the Lantern question was just right—no better thus been honored.

A Famous Galaxy.

People who delight in beautiful and good books will be astonished when they see, if they have not all ready seen, the announcements of the "Caxtons Illustrated" and other editions of standard authors, issued this season. The typography, and all mechanical qualities of printing and binding are simply superb, and the prices a veritable marvel to the old-time book-buyer. The list includes the works, complete, of Dickens, 15 volumes, reduced in price from $22.50 to $9.00 net; Thackeray's, from $16.50 to $6.75; George banner in the HERALD this week, with | Eliot's, from $12 to $3.75; Washington Irving's Works, from $20 to $4. Scott's Waverley Novels, from $30 to $7.50; Hawthorne's Works, from $21 to $6.50; J. Fenimore Cooper's, from $32 to $12.50; Bulwer's, from $31.25 to $8.50; Wm. Black's, from $15 to $4; De Quincey's, from $18 to $6.50. The For January is at hand in advance, and one beauty about this charming magazine is that it is ever on the adment, on reasonable evidence of good works in, and he can't talk as fast as faith and will send a large catalogue.

Old Face in a New Place.

We clip the following complimentary notice for the Georgia Clarion. Mr. Davis was formerly a resident of this county, and for the last four or five years had been living in Camilla Ga: We learn that our clever young townsman, Mr. D. D. Davis, has decided to make his native State, South Carolina, his home for the future, and has located at Laurens, C. H., where he will carry on his business as jeweler. It was hoped by all our best people It was hoped by all our best people that he would return and resume business here. His removal is a loss to Camilla. Very few business men have giving his attention, will be published derever made a better record than he. Beginning under great difficulties he built up a handsome business in the short space of two years, and established himself in the confidence of the community by his integrity and industry. He understands his business and sticks to it. And so genial were his manners and so generous his disposition, that it was a pleasure to his customers to deal with him. Such energetic, plucky, patient and upright business men are a great gain to any community. We lose him and old Laurens gains him.

A Good Mechanical Paper.

We are in receipt of the "Mechanical News" for December 1st, and are pleased to say that it is one of the best illustrated papers that comes to our editorial table. It is a handsome sixteen-page Journal, with fine original engravings, and well worth the subscription price asked for it. On the first page of the number before us are several life-like pictures, representing the growing of grapes and their man-ufacture into wine, as carried on in central New York; these pictures are only one of a series that have been given during the past year of the Industrial Manufacturers of the Country, and which are to be continued the coming year. Such enterprise shows that the publishers of the "News" are alive to the wants of their readers. Those of our readers who want a first-class preatical mechanical paper, can hardly do better than subscribe for the same. Sample copies are furnished by the publishers, Messrs. James Leffel & Co., No. 110 Liberty Street, New York, on application. Their subscription terms are One Dollar per year. They offer good inducements

He loses no time, and with an energy peculiar to this kind of genius, opens his mouth and the ma-chine starts. ing the winter.
Since it was first known that Gen. Beauregard had determined upon the publication of such a work, it has been expected with general interest by the public, both North and South. Able and distinguished critics who have seen the manuscript characterize it as a fascinating book, and the most interesting and important contribution yet made by any Southern writer to the history of the late war, and say that it throws tottally new light upon many events hitherto imperfectly understood or wholly misunderstood. A most capable and discriminating critic is the Hon. Charles A. Dana, the editor of the New York "Sun," who says: "It is, in my judgment, a "very valuable and important work. It sets "forth facts hitherto unknown or unappreci-"ated. It sheds new and valuable light on "controverted questions, and it narrates in a "simple, unaffected, easy and engaging style "the story of the most important facts of the "great struggle. It is especially worthy of "commendation for the moderation and free-"dom from excitement with which it disc 18-"ses points that have been the subject of "embiticed disputes in the hands of other writers. While the view of the writer is "powerfully maintained and fortified by un-questionable documents, I have not found anywhere an angry word or undignified The book will unquestionably be an ex-ceedingly valuable and notable addition to the literature of American history, and must have a very large sale throughout the country, both on account of the great moment of the theme and the admirable style in which it seems to have been treated. It will, of course, be of peculiar value and interest to the people of South Carolina, on whose soil the active operations of the great war were so dramatically begun by Gen. Beauregard himself, and with the long, brilliant and successful defence of which his name and fame cessful defence of which his name and fame are inseparably associated.

THE SOUTHERN WORLD. We have finished reading the Southern World," have read it through and thorough as children say, and pronounce it the brighest. spiciest, most original and altogether entertaining paper that we have ever spent our time over. Even the advertisements came in for a share of attention, for printer like we love to look at a neat display of typeand those in the World are decided ly so. It is splendidly illustrated also, and printed on fine calendered paper, and what makes it highly acceptable is its price, only $1. Its proprietor is Dr. B. M. Woolley, its editor W. H. Whidby and H. H. Jones. Is published at Atlanta.

A PHILADELPHIA LAWYER'S

PHILADELPHIA, November 28 .-The long pending suit of Honery C. Terry, a member of the Bar, to obtain from the city a fee of $50. 000 for service in connection with the transfer of the Oxford Turnpike to the municipality, was decided today by the master, to whom the case had been referred. He reported that after a thorough review of the testimony the money should be awarded to Terry, as he saw nothing to satisfy him that there has been any fraud as alleged.
